Operating Plans for Marion Branch Of Boys' Industrial School Outlined

Preliminary Work Is Scheduled To Be Started Soon.

First announcement of detailed plans for remodeling the administration area of the Scioto Ordnance plant to house a branch of the state boys' industrial school has been made here by representatives of the state welfare department.

The occasion was the visit here Thursday of three officials of the state welfare department for the purpose of making a survey of the tract on which to base recommendations for future rehabilitation work.

In Marion for the survey were Judge Lloyd B. Bennett of Eaton, O., chairman of a special welfare department advisory committee on industrial school problems, Col. Harold Hays, superintendent of the Lancaster industrial school, and Herman Geiser, welfare department engineer. Other committee members who had planned to be present were unable to do so.

Judge Bennett said the first recommendation his committee will make to Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood will be for the erection of a security fence around what is generally known as the administration area of the ordnance plant. He also outlined other steps to be taken in adapting present buildings for the housing of older boys now at Lancaster.

To Fence in 45 Acres

The fence will surround an area of approximately 45 acres. The remainder of the 1,263 acres acquired by the welfare department from the federal government will not be fenced.

The fence will be 12 feet high and made of woven wire. To the top of the posts' steel arms in a "V" shape will be attached on which will be strung tightly drawn barbed wire. This will form a cradle in which loosely rolled barbed wire will be placed, making a barrier that is extremely difficult, if not impossible, to climb over.

In determining the type of fence welfare officials used as a model the newly constructed fence at the federal reformatory at Chillicothe. Judge Bennett and his committee decided on this type after a recent inspection of the Chillicothe fence.

Funds Provided

Funds for building the fence will come from $100,000 appropriated by the last legislature to get work started on the Marion project.

Cost of erecting the barrier has not been determined but Judge Bennett found a basis for an estimate in the cost of the Chillicothe fence, which also surrounds a 45-acre area. This fence, he said, cost $23,000 for materials. It was built by reformatory labor.

The Marion fence will be built by private contract and the cost will include not only materials but labor as well. Judge Bennett said the welfare department hoped to be able to take bids for the work within a few weeks.

Work To Be Started Soon

Judge Bennett said a custodian, or maintenance man, would be put on the job here shortly for the purpose of mowing grass and otherwise cleaning up the property.

Another step to be taken within a short time will be the preparation of buildings to house the first caretakers and officers of the school.

With these preliminaries out of the way work will be started on remodeling one or more of the dormitories to house the boys to be brought here from Lancaster. Four of these buildings will be available for housing boys.

The dormitories were originally constructed to house an anticipated flood of workers at the ordnance plant but were put to little use as employment never reached the high level expected.

The buildings are constructed in the form of the letter "H." They are two stories. The main parts of the structures contain sleeping rooms while the bar of the H, or connecting structure, contains toilet facilities. Partitions are to be constructed through the center of the toilet rooms, dividing the building into two parts.

In this manner 80 boys can be housed in each of the buildings—20 on the first floor and a like number on the second floor of the two sections of each building.

Treatment of each of the five dormitories in this manner will enable the school to handle 400 boys with existing facilities.

Each group will be under the supervision of a "family officer," Judge Bennett said. This alone will require a force of 60 supervisors, since they operate on eight hour shifts.

Program of Training

Principal aim of the branch here will be to teach the boys a useful trade which will enable them to earn a living when they leave the school, Judge Bennett said. It is proposed to set up a rather complete vocational school which will include training in auto mechanics, lathe and press operation, painting and other trades.

It is expected that the former Ordnance Plant's medical build-

HARDING HOME AND MUSEUM TO BE OPENED

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Augenstein To Be in Charge of Residence.

The Harding Home and museum which has been closed for the last several months, will again be open to the public, beginning Tuesday, June 1. The hours are 10 a. m. and 5 p. m. on week-days and 1 to 7 p. m. Sundays. The home will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Augenstein, who with their family, are to be permanent residents occupying the second floor.

During the months the home has been closed the rooms have been rearranged and many of the pieces of furniture and other articles used by President and Mrs. Harding when they occupied the home, together with many gifts received by them during their residence in the White House, are on display. While the rooms have been rearranged to provide living quarters, basically everything is just as it was when the President and Mrs. Harding were living there.

Many Souvenirs

In addition to the setting of the home there are priceless possessions and souvenirs belonging to the Hardings. It was in this home they were married at the foot of the stairway on July 8, 1891 and it was here they lived until they left for Washington on March 2, 1921. It was from the front porch that Senator Harding conducted his presidential campaign.

Under the terms of Mrs. Harding's will the home with its original furnishings, all the President's correspondence, his old and new libraries, and the mementoes and gifts received during their years in the White House, were bequeathed to the Harding Memorial association with the request that they be maintained and preserved for the benefit of the public. Many thousands have visited the home since it was opened as a memorial on Feb. 8, 1926.

The home and the Harding Memorial south of the city, represent two of the main places of interest not only in Marion but the nation. The memorial is considered to be one of the most beautiful in the world.

Since the home was closed last fall, a women's committee consisting of Mrs. L. D. Hamilton, Mrs. J. C. Turner and Miss Pansy Rauhauser have worked with representatives of the Memorial association in rearranging and overseeing the cleaning of the home and display cases.

Mr. Augenstein has, for many years, been the caretaker and supervisor of the Harding Memorial and the grounds. With Mrs. Augenstein he will now serve as general manager of the home and act as curator.

Citizens of Marion are invited to visit the home, bring their guests and urge others to visit this historical spot. A small admission fee will be asked and there are various types of souvenirs to be had.

The home and the Memorial are supervised by an executive committee made up of local members of the Harding Memorial Association.

NEIGHBORS DO WORK FOR INJURED FARMER

Plant 50 Acres in Day; Use 21 Tractors.

Thirty-five farmers came to the aid of a stricken neighbor south of LaRue this week, planting more than 50 acres of corn and soybeans for Cletus Murphy, injured several weeks ago when a tractor turned over on him.

Farmers gathered at the Murphy farm about five miles from LaRue at 7 a. m. Wednesday and before dark had planted Mr. Murphy's corn and beans. He was farming 100 acres. Twenty-five were planted to beans and at least that amount of corn went in, neighbors said.

There were 21 tractors working during the day, plus discs, cultivators and other equipment. The whole job was completed by about [illegible] p. m. Lunch was furnished by ladies of the Bowling Green Grange who served the noon meal for the "planting bee" in the yard of the farm home. Although the Grange was instrumental in planning the affair it was a spontaneous move on the part of neighbors and friends to give assistance.

Mr. Murphy, confined to his home after the accident, is no more than able to get about with the aid of a cane. Field work was impossible and at the time of the accident only about half his plowing had been done.

A KISS FROM THE WINNER. Jean Chappelear (right) of Ravenna, O., plants a kiss on Darrell Flavelle, who is also 14 years old, at the conclusion of the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D. C. Black Horse, O., Girl Is Nation's Spelling Champ

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, May 29 — Blue-eyed Jean Chappelear is a baby-sitter who is sitting pretty today as the country's new spelling champion.

The 14-year-old eighth grade student from a Ravenna, O., township school won the twenty-first annual national spelling bee when she spelled "oligarchy" correctly to defeat Darrell Flavelle, 14, of Washington, D. C.

Jean credited some of her success to the hours she spent studying spelling while she was baby-sitting for neighbors or for her younger brother and sister. But mostly she felt her victory was an answer to her prayers. Throughout the five hours of the bee Jean prayed. It wasn't noticeable at first.

When the going got tougher, though, she closed her eyes tight, and the audience could see her lips moving determinedly.

"I wanted so much to win," she said later, "but I never thought I would."

Longest Bee in History

It was the longest national spelling bee in history. And it was longer for Jean than for the rest of the 39 contestants.

Because of her listing as No. 1 among the entrants, she started off the bee by spelling the first word. She didn't quit until she spelled the 593rd word—"psychiatrist" — to clinch her crown after Darrell had faltered on "oligarchy."

Jean, who is unspoiled and friendly with a liking for children and French fried potatoes, has been working for three years for this honor. When she hasn't been spending her baby-sitting hours with Webster, she has been spelling to her mother.

Mrs. Lewis Chappelear said she wanted Jean to win so people would stop asking her where Black Horse, O., is. That is Jean's hometown. It's a community of about 300 near Ravenna and her father is a barber there.

When Jean isn't winning spelling honors, she is out after other scholastic laurels. She won honorable mention in the Ohio state eighth grade scholarship test recently.

She plays pingpong, the clarinet and the piano and wants to be an English teacher some day.

CARDINGTON GIRL WINS FOURTH PLACE

Miss Marlene Bean, 11-year-old Cardington school girl, finished in fourth place Friday at the national spelling bee finals held in Washington, D. C.

She fell down on the word "fascistic" in the twenty-second round of the contest.

The contest began at 9 a. m. Marion time when 40 school children from 36 states entered the final spell down. She phoned her parents at 1:00 p. m. yesterday that she was still "in" and there were only 19 left.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bean, got a telegram shortly after 2 p. m. that she had missed her word and that there were three others left.

For her efforts she won a $50 prize. She progressively had become school, county and central Ohio winner in the 21st annual contest.

Mrs. Golda Gale accompanied Mrs. C. W. Bean and Marlene to Washington last week. They left Port Columbus Monday. Mrs. Gale was Marlene's teacher the last year.

Arabs Attack In Jerusalem

Jews, Short of Water and Food, Defend Modern Section of Holy City.

By The Associated Press

CAIRO May, 29—Arab troops began an attack today in modern Jerusalem. Jews short of water and food, tried desperately to break a blockade of all four highways entering the city.

Legion guns pounded Jewish concentrations in New Jerusalem, even as raging fires swept the ancient Jewish ghetto in the old city. There Israeli remnants, with food and ammunition gone, surrendered yesterday after a five-month siege topped off by an 11-day pounding from the guns of King Abdullah's Arab legion.

Now the Jews in all Jerusalem are under a throttling state of siege that can be ended only by the opening of supply routes to the Mediterranean coast.

"The battle for the defense of new Jerusalem and for the liberation of the old city continues," a Haganah (Jewish army) communique declared.

Battle for Highway

Thouands of Israelis and Arabs were locked in a battle west of Jerusalem for the highway from Tel Aviv which could supply the Holy City's 80,000 Jews. The Arabs threw armor, artillery, planes and all the manpower they could spare into the fight, Tel Aviv reports said.

Jews fighting to break the Arab ring around Jerusalem could see smoke and flames belching from the rubble-strewn old city. Arab forces, commanding the Zion gate, led the last group of Jewish civilians — women and children, young and old, from the old city.

In the old city's police barracks, 294 Jewish men of military age were temporarily behind bars, waiting buses to take them to a camp at Amman, Trans-Jordan. Seriously wounded men, under the surrender terms accepted yesterday, were to be delivered to Jewish lines in Jerusalem, but the others of some 150 wounded may be kept prisoners.

Fires Rage At Night

Fires raged through the night in the Jewish quarter. The Arabs blamed Jewish mines which they said exploded from time fuses after the surrender was concluded. Some Arabs said the Jews kindled fires purposely before the evacuation of the quarter, which adjoined the south wall.

A dispatch from inside the old city said the ghetto looked like a chunk of blasted Stalingrad. The stench of death was heavy. Some Jewish bodies lay unburied and others had been covered hastily with thin layers of rubble.

THREE CITY PARKS TO OPEN SUNDAY

Areas Made Ready for Summer Use by Public.

The three city parks will be formally opened for the summer season Memorial Day, W. Leonard Young, park board secretary announced today.

Park Foreman William Smith and two maintenance men have been putting finishing touches on Lincoln park, McKinley park and Garfield park this week in preparations for use by the public over Memorial day Mr. Young reported.

Lawns have been mowed and trimmed, flowers and shubs planted and recreational equipment set up for use by city children. In addition shelter houses and fixtures in the three parks have been repainted under the board's maintenance program.

The board made its annual plea for care to be exercised by children using the parks so that freshly set in shrubs and flowers may continue to improve park appearance.

New recreational equipment has been added this year and the board voiced the perennial hope that instances of vandalism that have occurred too regularly in the past would not be prevalent this year.

CONTINUE FLEEING NORTHWEST FLOODS

By The Associated Press

More thousands fled their endangered homes today in the Pacific northwest's worst flood in 54 years.

The death toll mounted to 15 and property damage soared into uncounted millions. Main rail and highway routes were disrupted and more were threatened.

An officially declared state of emergency existed in Washington and Idaho. The militia was ordered out in British Columbia to aid the swelling numbers of refugees.

An ominous new note in the disastrous floods was the announcement that the waters may stay above flood stage for more than a month.

Travel was disrupted in wide sections of western Canada and to a lesser extent in Washington state. The transcontinental main line of the Great Northern railroad was cut by the Wenatchee river near Cashmere. Traffic was being rerouted over other tracks.

Vancouver, B. C., had only one rail link left with eastern Canada.

The main Columbia river highway east of Portland was closed by floods.

RITES WORLD OVER TO HONOR WAR DEAD

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, May 29—America's war dead will be honored Sunday and Monday at Memorial day services throughout the world.

Special ceremonies will be held in national cemeteries all over the United States and overseas from Mount Surabachi on Iwo Jima to Italy.

President Truman will lay a wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington National cemetery on Sunday. He will be accompanied by members of his cabinet, high government officials and an honor guard from the Third Infantry regiment.

Wherever American war dead lie, each grave of a soldier, sailor, marine or coast guardsman will be decorated with an American flag. Local veterans and patriotic organizations will sponsor memorial services in this country.

The Army said the bodies of nearly 40,000 World War II dead already have been returned from overseas.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, commander of U. S. forces in Europe will speak at the services at Foy, Belgium, Lt. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner and U. S. Ambassador Herman B. Baruc will address a gathering at the cemetery at Margraten, Holland where nearly 18,000 American World War II dead are buried.

Jefferson Caffery, U. S. ambassador to France and Lt. Gen. Curtis Lemay, air force commander in Europe, will take part in the services at Solers, 22 miles from Paris. At Castel Fiorentino, Italy, Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, commander of U. S. troops in Austria, and James C. Dunn, U. S. ambassador to Italy will be the speakers.

POSTPONE TIME CHANGE

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., May 29—The village council of near-by Green Springs, which last week voted to turn back the clocks to eastern standard time, has ordered the time change delayed until June 7. Mayor Edwin Tibbe said councilmen felt their action had been hasty since only opponents of daylight savings time had been heard.

75,000 GOING BACK TO WORK

Chrysler Employes Returning After 13-Cent Raise Ends Strike.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 29—The vanguard of 75,000 Chrysler Corp. workers began trickling back into the plants today, their 17-day strike ended by a straight 13-cent an hour wage increase.

With their return the second major labor dispute in the automobile industry this year was written off the books.

Chrysler's settlement with the CIO United Auto Workers, announced last night, bettered by two cents the raise given 225,000 strike-threatening General Motors employes under a cost of living formula only three days earlier.

It provided less than half the union's original demand but more than twice Chrysler's best previous offer.

It also extended the company's contract, due to expire in 11 months, until August, 1950. Either Chrysler or the UAW can seek an adjustment of wage rates once any time after June 15, 1949. Salaried employes, some of them represented by the UAW, were given an eight per cent raise with a floor of $20 a month.

Difference Unexplained

There was no official explanation as to why Chrysler settled for a flat sum rather than the widely-heralded GM sliding scale. However, a union customarily holds out for a penny or two more than the pattern for its members on strike.

Chrysler would not say whether it plans to raise car prices to cover its higher labor costs.

The agreement left only the Ford Motor Co. of the industry's big three yet to settle with the UAW in the third postwar wage drive. It apparently knocked a second prop from under Ford's counter-demand for a wage cut.

The auto union promptly hailed the settlement as "a signal victory for all American workers in view of the determination of industry as a whole to fight against any wage increases at all or, in some instances, to fight for wage re-

Golf Title Won By Stranahan

Ohio Milionaire Sportsman Scores Victory in British Amateur Tourney.

By The Associated Press

SANDWICH, ENGLAND, May 29—Frank Stranahan, Ohio's golfing millionaire, defeated Charles Stowe of England, 5 and 4, today and took over the British amateur title surrendered by Willie Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y.

Stranahan won by taking five of the first six holes after lunch. The morning round, played in a drenching rain and high wind, over the Royal St. Georges course, ended all even.

Today's triumph brought the wealthy young American his first major title. His ambition is to add the British and U.S. Open and the U.S. amateur crown to the one he captured today.

Only during the lunch hour, when the players and the small gallery were off the 6,728-yard course, did the weather subside. The moment play was resumed the rain and wind began again. They needed 79 strokes each in the morning.

Stowe, who had lost to Stranahan in last year's Walker cup matches, said the elements didn't bother him although he was over par.

"I was very lucky," Stranahan said, "I should have lost both the 23rd and 24th holes—and I won them."

Turnesa was beaten yesterday by Stowe in a semifinal match, 1-up, to eliminate all chances of a second straight all American final.

Stranahan joins such other famed U.S. golfers as Bobby Jones, Jess Sweetser, Bob Sweeny, Lawson Little, Charley Yates and Turnesa as winner of the British amateur title.

What may have been the deciding shot of the day came on the 27th hole. Stowe, who predicted he would beat Stranahan, had just cut two holes off Stranahan's advantage, when the American turned loose a tremendous 300-yard drive. Then came a No. 7 iron shot that landed 30 inches from the cup. Frank sank it for a Birdie three for the four-margin that he maintained to the end.

Wallace, Thomas Hit Mundt Bill in Senate Group Session

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 29—Henry A. Wallace told senators today that "we can't have peace with Russia if we approach Russia with the atom bomb in one hand and the Mundt bill in the other."

Wallace referred to the Mundt-Nixon anti-communism bill already passed by the house by an overwhelming vote.

Attacking the measure vigorously, Wallace told the senate judiciary committee it represents "a declaration of war on the rights of free speech and free assembly in the United States."

Wallace remarked he is a believer in "old-fashioned Americanism." He emphasized his opposition to the law dealing with Communism.

Then Wallace noted that Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the supreme court has said there are less than 100,000 Communists in the country.

In answer to questions by Chairman Wiley (R-Wis), Wallace said the government now has ample laws to deal with any subversive acts and he hopes it never has laws that aim at ideas of "thought control."

The third party presidential candidate said "as the bill is framed, its penalties can be visited upon every organization which espouses the cause of world peace and progress," and added:

"The Mundt bill would empower the attorney general to proscribe our party and visit criminal penalties upon its members, in the event that it refused—as it most certainly would—to register with him."

Shortly before Wallace testified, Socialist Norman Thomas told the committee that the "third party" supporting Henry Wallace for president is controlled to a large extent by Communists.

WALLACE

of the Socialists, also is opposed to the Mundt-Nixon bill.

Thomas, after criticizing the measure already approved by the house, was asked by Senator Eastland (D-Miss):

"Do you think the third party supporting Mr. Wallace is controlled by Communists?"

"Yes it is to a large extent," Thomas replied quickly and then said he had better explain this.

Thomas said Wallace is not a Communist and the majority of his enthusiastic supporters are not but the Wallace movement is "influenced by well-trained and very well-disciplined Communists."

Thomas also told senators that the American Communist party and movement are under foreign control from Russia.

In a 3,000-word statement prepared for the senate judiciary committee, Wallace insisted that the measure extends far beyond its aim to shackle the Communist party.

Thomas a Surprise Witness

Committee members in questioning Thomas, who was a surprise witness, asked him to expand on his statement that the American Communist party and movement are controlled by Russia.

Thomas said Earl Browder had been ousted as Communist party boss in the U. S. and had been supplanted by William Z. Foster after a leading "French Communist "had visited Moscow and denounced Browder."

"Is the Communist party in the United States an agent for a foreign power?" Eastland asked.

"Why certainly," Thomas replied, saying that Stalin is both head of the vast Russian empire and the worldwide Communist movement.

Thomas took a political potshot at Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and Republican presidential aspirant.

He said that under the Mundt bill the attorney general would have "too great powers" and might use these against farmers, labor unions, or even other political parties.

Then he added that "one of the most vociferous" of the Republican candidates had shown a lack of ability to distinguish between Communists and Socialism.

Sees Serious Possibilities

He said that if this candidate became president and appointed a like-minded attorney general the country might face serious results.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) interrupted to say there are a large number of Republican candidates.

"I refer to the former governor of Minnesota, Harold Stassen," Thomas replied.

He noted that he has offered to debate publicly both Stassen and Wallace with no acceptance as yet.

Thomas told the senators that congress would be wiser to improve housing and the national wellbeing than to get excited about the Communist curb measure.

Wiley asked Thomas to explain differences between the Socialists and Communists.

Thomas said Socialists "abhor and detest the totalitarian state" which the Communists advocate. He added:

"Communism * * * is ruthless in suppression of all individual rights. Communism in action is the worst tyranny the world has seen."

"Socialists always have protected and expanded civil rights," Thomas said and cited example of Norway and England.

Ohio Methodism Pays Homage To Retiring Bishop Lester Smith

BISHOP H. LESTER SMITH

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 29—Ohio Methodism paid honor to Bishop H. Lester Smith last night—both with words and with a purse of $4,444 44.

The white-haired, 72-year-old bishop, who for 16 years has been the spiritual leader of 500,000 Ohio Methodists, was visibly moved by the tributes.

When he stepped to the lectern to speak to hundreds of his communicants in Memorial hall, the bishop discarded a prepared address and told the audience he wanted to give them "a direct message out of my own heart"

Bishop Smith will retire next month after more than 50 years in the Methodist ministry and 28 years as a Methodist bishop.

The heart of all religion, he, said "is when self-centeredness changes to Christ-centeredness."

This truth, he said, he realized first as a boy of 12 in a little Pennsylvania oil town.

"Years and experiences have but strengthened my conviction," he said.

"Looking for sainthood—and finding it—makes the pastor," he continued. "It is not who you are, it is not what you preach, it is God's love in your heart"

Tribute to Bishop Smith were paid by Bishop Titus Lowe of Indianapolis, a lifelong friend, Clarence E. Lavlin of Columbus, a lay leader who presided; Dr. Isaac Miller of Urbana, on behalf of the pastors, and Mrs. John M. Dolbey of Cincinnati, on behalf of Ohio Methodist women

Dr H E Bright of Lancaster, superintendent of the Chillicothe district, presented a purse to the bishop.

The service of appreciation, attended by 2,000 persons, was a part of the tenth annual Ohio conference, which continues through Monday.

FIRST PIG IRON MADE FROM TOCONITE ROCK

By The United Press

MINNEAPOLIS, May 29—The University of Minnesota announced today that it had produced pig iron from taconite for the first time in history.

Prof. E. W. Davis, head of the university's mines experiment station, said the "very successful" experiments showed that iron made from taconite is "equivalent in every way" to iron produced from high-grade ore.

Davis said the experiments settle the question of where iron for the nation is to be obtained after Minnesota's high-grade ore supplies are exhausted. He said that now it will not be necessary for U. S. steel companies to obtain their iron from abroad.

Taconite is the basic rock from which the famed Mesabi iron range in northern Minnesota is formed. It contains about 25 per cent iron as compared with the 52 per cent in normal ore.

Davis said the finished pig iron was produced from taconite in experiments last week. The tests culminated more than 20 years of university work with the low-grade ore.

University experts are convinced that successful use of taconite means Minnesota definitely will be able to retain its vital mining industry.

Davis said there are "countless" tons of iron—bearing taconite in the Lake Superior district of northern Minnesota — enough to supply the nation with iron "for hundreds of years"

He said steel companies have decided that economically it would be best to obtain iron from taconite rather than from foreign mines

Says Opposition "Cracked"

Norman Matthews, UAW Chrysler director, said the strike had "cracked the solid opposition" of the auto, steel and electrical industries to pay raises this year.

Chrysler's average hourly wage was boosted to $1.63, compared with GM's $1 61 under the new contract there. But a slight rise in the cost of living could push GM's average past Chrysler's when the first quarterly adjustment is made in September.

PLANS

ing will be utilized for this purpose.

Present plans for putting the school into operation are only temporary arrangements, Judge Bennett indicated. The buildings at the ordnance plant were considered temporary construction to start with, with a life expectancy of something more than five years

However, the buildings still are said to be in good condition and with some alterations can be made suitable for BIS purposes

Future plans for the school, however, call for replacement of all the present structures with permanent masonry buildings Judge Bennett said Work of this type will depend on future plans of the welfare department and will require additional appropriations by the legislature

Fund of Million Sought

The $100,000 now available will only be a starter toward adapting the present buildings to the needs of the school. An additional $1,000,000 is to be sought from the legislature at the next session to complete the present program.

For the present the school will be operated as a branch of the Lancaster institution, Judge Bennett said. However, the welfare department is aiming at the time when it would operate as an independent unit under its own superintendent.

Boys sent here will come from Lancaster. None will be committed to the Marion school directly by county juvenile courts The Marion school will house the older group from Lancaster and those who have attempted an escape from that school.

The school here will place considerable emphasis on athletics and recreation. Within the area enclosed by the fence will be space for football and baseball fields and other recreational activities.

The school's water supply will come from city mains which go into the ordnance plant area Arrangements now are being made for fire protection.

HOSPITAL UNIT SET UP AS GALION TURBINE FAILS

Special to The Star

GALION, May 29—A turbine failure due to an accident at the municipal electric plant here early Friday necessitated putting into effect an emergency auxiliary generating unit at City hospital. The shutoff occurred when surgeons were about to start an operation at the hospital.

The power shutoff was caused when a workman at the power plant accidentally knocked a trip regulator out of adjustment while he was cleaning one of the turbines. This threw the turbine out of operation, and the other turbine could not carry the full generating load thrust on it by the accident, it was explained by John F. Porter, service director.

An emergency electric supply unit was used by the Northern Ohio Telephone company to maintain service.

The carillon in the tower of Peace Lutheran church played 30 minutes late Friday night. The carillon starts to play automatically by an electric system, and the tardiness was traceable to the accident at the municipal plant.

The service Monday will start with the opening of the lodge at 4 a. m., by regular officers, with Mr. Williams presiding. Mr. Williams also will receive the distinguished guests who will be presented by Kenneth E. Fields. The master Mason degree will be conferred on one candidate.

IN MEMORIAM

To Our Military Dead from All Wars

How the thoughtfulness of two Southern women who decorated the graves of Northern soldiers while paying tribute to their own dead has grown into a national Memorial Day for the dead of all wars, is a demonstration of American Democracy at work. Another lesson brought out is that while we have never started a war our citizen military personnel will fight to preserve our liberty and to aid the oppressed of the world.

Prevent Future Wars

The large number of graves to be decorated—the millions of living veterans—all attest to the cost of wars. If equal determination is used in preventing wars that we show in winning them, in time, perhaps, we can live peacefully in the world without war.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"You underestimate Georges," I told Mary, laughingly "He already has taken out full insurance against Noel's finding out that he didn't want him for best man"

"All right, I'll double for Faith," she quipped "What did Georges do?"

"He asked me if I would mind letting you and Noel think the idea of his providing the music came from inside my own brain," I said, "and that I would tell Noel casually that of course George's first choice for best man would be himself, but that as the one who furnished the music couldn't very well also act as best man, and as Georges and Mr. 'K' were having a beautiful comradeship, I had suggested that 'K' act as best man, and Georges had agreed to the suggestion"

Mary bent double in a laugh that she tried to keep muted When she sat erect again, her face was flushed and her eyes were dancing.

"Don't tell me there's nothing in the theory of reincarnation," she said "I'll bet, if you flayed Georgy Porgy, you'd find old Machiavelli's flesh beneath his epidermis.

"But that really is something for the almanac," she went on "For he's come up with a perfectly logical solution"

"Yes, he has," I said "I'm ashamed I didn't think of it We would have had to have phonograph records, for Noel is the only musician in our group, except Olina"

"And unless she toted her harp in her arms," Mary said giggling, "she couldn't very well play her own wedding march Also, Noel coudn't 'double in brass' and act as best man while he was pounding the piano keys It's a marvelous solution all around, and my best chapeau is off to Georges"

"So is mine," I said, trying to repress a yawn, and Mary shot a keen glance at me

"All right, darling 'Mrs Fix-it,'" she said, "you're almost dead to the world Where do you want to sleep?"

"On the couch, in here," I said "It's the nearest"

"Do you want your night things?"

"Only my dressing gown and slippers," I said "I'm just going to camp down for the short time before the breakfast hour"

"We could have breakfast served in the bedroom," she said, "and let you sleep."

"But I mustn't, dearest," I told her. "I have a million things more or less waiting for me in the morning"

"You're so conservative," she said "But I know from experience there's no use in arguing with you However, I refuse to call you."

"You don't need to," I told her, wrinkling my nose at her

"Oh, I know! You have some sort of mental alarm clock that wakens you within ten minutes of the time you set it," she said "Okay. Will you throw some cold water on me, if I'm asleep when you wake up"

"With pleasure," I told her, smiling, and she made a face at me as she kissed me, and then went into the bedroom. But I was too tired to rely upon my mental alarm clock Fortunately, the telephone cord was long enough so that I could put the instrument on a small table at the head of the couch, and I asked the operator to call me at seven-thirty. Mary is such a sound sleeper that I knew, with the door closed between our rooms, she would not be disturbed Then, with the comfortable feeling of having attended to everything, I snuggled down into my pillows, and knew nothing more until the operator awakened me in the morning Then, moving noiselessly so as not to waken Mary, I showered in the bathroom — it is almost soundproof—dressed, and just before a quarter to eight, I put my fingers on Mary's wrist and pressed it gently When she opened her eyes, she gave me a gamin grin

"Your tender heart failed you at the last minute," she said. "You couldn't give me the cold water treatment. But, I'll get up anyway. I suppose you're on your way over to waken Faith?"

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON—IT'S TAKEN us time but now we're about ready to join the UN's world health organization.

Thirty other nations already have done so. Twenty-six were needed to set it up.

The idea was worked out at a world health conference in New York in 1946.

By next September it will open its shop as a going concern, perhaps in Geneva, Switzerland.

James Marlow

This is what it's supposed to do: set up a single agency so the world's doctors, or their governments, can:

1. Exchange information for fighting disease.

2. Try to control epidemics and keep them from spreading.

3. Agree on a number of things so there'll be less confusion—like the names for diseases and the drugs for treating them.

The above three points are just a skeleton idea of the work it will try to do.

Last July the senate approved our joining the organization.

Then yesterday, almost a year later, the house got around to giving its approval.

Action by both houses—they passed what's called a joint resolution—was necessary.

BUT THE WAY THEY passed it differed a bit. So they'll have to work out an agreement.

Then President Truman can sign it and make us a member. It probably will cost us about $2,000,000 a year for our share of the expenses.

The health organization will be run by an executive board made up of representatives from the member nations.

Our representative—the President will appoint him—has to be a doctor with at least 10 years' practice in medicine.

WHAT GOOD DO WE get out of joining? The house foreign affairs committee listed some of these points:

1. By keeping down or preventing epidemics in other countries, the world health organization will make the UN that much safer from disease.

2. By checking more closely on people flying to the U. S. from other countries, the organization will cut down the amount of sickness and disease brought in here.

3. U. S. citizens traveling abroad will have better protection against disease.

4. Because better world standards will be set up for drugs and medical supplies, the U. S. companies which make them will have better markets abroad.

5. The U. S. not only will receive information about international health problems, but will be able to help solve them.

Church Licenses Two Here as Ministers

Two Marion men were endorsed for licensing into the ministry of the Evangelical United Brethren church by the quarterly conference of Calvary church Thursday night. They are Edwin Endicott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Endicott of Bellefontaine avenue, and Laurence Feaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feaver of Willow street.

Mr. Endicott is a sophomore at Otterbein college at Westerville, and Mr. Feaver, recently in the Navy V5 at Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., and transferred to Pensacola, Fla., for pre-flight training, has a sophomore college rating. He has just left the Navy course for ministerial training and is now on a visit at home here. He plans to attend North Central college at Naperville, Ill., a church school. Both men will preach trial sermons here in the near future, Rev. R. W. Faulkner, pastor of Calvary church, stated.

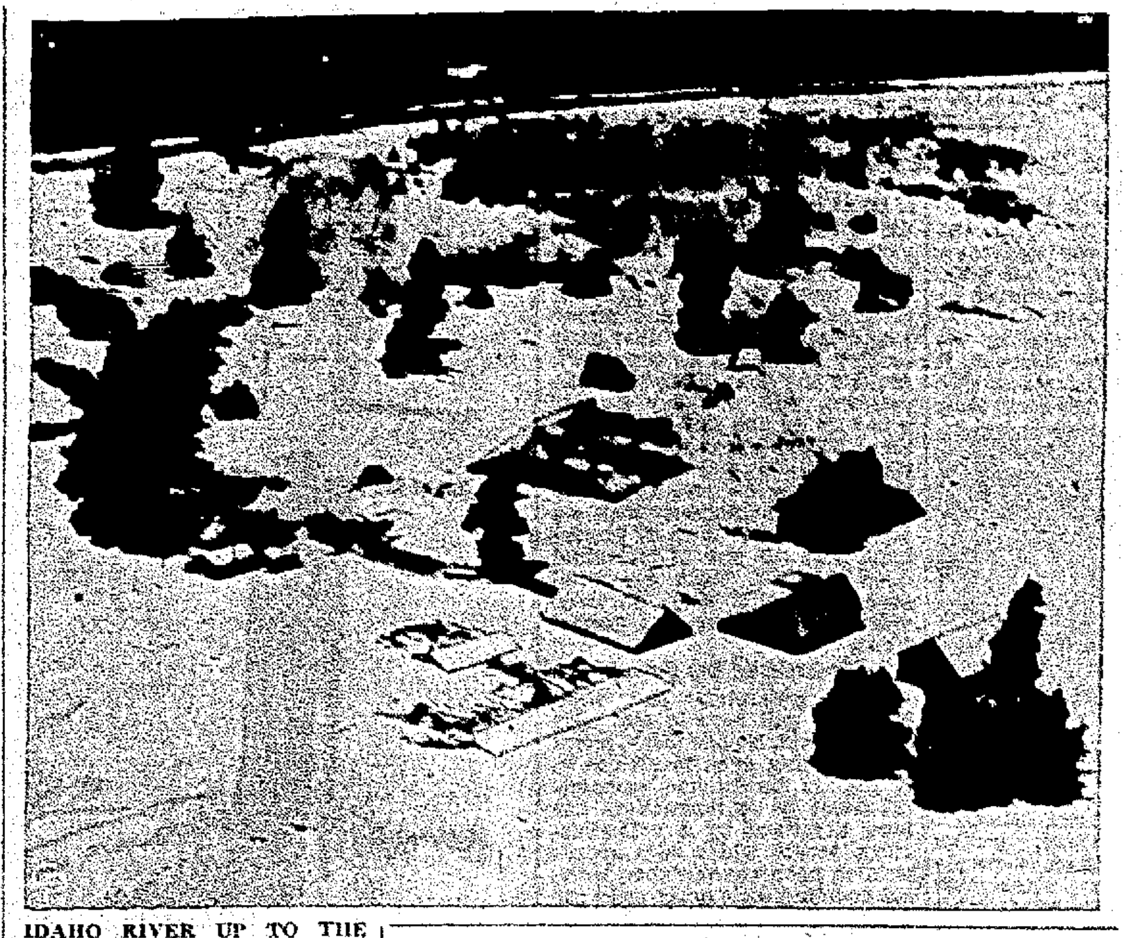
The quarterly conference was in charge of Rev. E. E. Nietz of Columbus, district superintendent.

ASHLEY BOYS MISS TRAIN

ASHLEY — Richard Knauber and Dale Benedict, two of the Ashley seniors who were on a trip to Washington and points east this week, on their return trip missed the train at Cleveland, although it is said train officials obligingly held the train eight minutes. Their tickets were left for them at the B & O station, but the two young men thumbed their way home. Richard Boring and David Thurston remained east for visits with relatives and friends for a short time. Mrs. R. B. Warner and Miss Thelma Toby extended their trip to Williamsburg, and will return the latter part of the week.

WESTMINSTER GUILD MEETS

Business was in charge of Mrs. Glen Hawkins. Devotions were by Mrs. Andrew Knapp on "The Way," by E. Stanley Jones, and Mrs. L. D. Hamilton presented a paper on "Meeting World Christian Fellowship." Another work meeting was voted for June 24.



IDAHO RIVER UP TO THE EAVES. The Kootenai river at Bonners Ferry, Id., swirled over highway, farmland, bridges—and up to the eaves of farm buildings so great was the flood. It is feared dikes above the town would give away.

Arrested on a charge of reckless operation at 3:38 a. m. Thursday on North State street, Robert L. Sims of Waldo was fined $15 and costs in court Friday.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

If You Have Hay Fever

A few sneezes and an itchy, watery nose for a couple of hours each day are not enough to send the ordinary person to the doctor. This is the reason, experts say, that so few people seek medical attention early.

Yet, these are the classic symptoms of a disorder which, though mild to start with, may and often does end with serious complications. It is known as allergic rhinitis or perennial hay fever, and is the most common form of allergy or over-sensitivity affecting the breathing passages.

In mild cases of allergic rhinitis, there may only be occasional attacks of sneezing, when the patient comes in contact with something to which he is sensitive. Sneezing once or twice is not abnormal, but six or seven sneezes in a row mean that there is some allergy present.

In children with this disorder, the mother often mistakes the symptoms for colds. However, when the attacks are due to allergy or oversensitivity, there is no fever, and the attacks, as a rule, last only a short time.

Examination of the nose in allergic cases shows that the lining membrane is pale and swollen, and that there is a great deal of watery discharge. The discharge often contains a kind of white blood cell known as the eosinophil.

If the patient is sensitive to a number of different substances and has contact with them, the symptoms are more severe. There may be sneezing throughout the day, the nose itches, and the nasal passages are blocked, due to the swelling of the lining membrane. This blocking is noticed most often at night.

The more frequent the attacks of allergic rhinitis, the greater the likelihood that some complicating infection of the sinuses will occur. After the disorder has been present for a longer time, polyps, as a rule, will develop.

The more frequent the attacks of allergic rhinitis, the greater the likelihood that some complicating infection of the sinuses will occur. After the disorder has been present for a longer time, polyps, as a rule, will develop.

The treatment of allergic rhinitis consists, of course, in making efforts to find the substances to which the patient is sensitive and then keeping out of contact with them. In some cases, once the substances are found, it may be possible to desensitize the patient, particularly in the case of pollens from plants, or house dust, by giving injections under the skin of extracts from the substance, in gradually increasing doses.

There are a number of preparations which may give temporary relief from the symptoms, such as epinephrine, ephedrin, amphetamine and pyribenzamine. Of course, all such preparations must be used only under the directions of a physician.

Questions and Answers

R. N.: If the metalbolism test is too low, what does it mean?

Answer: As a general rule, low metabolic rate indicates a deficiency of thyroid secretion. Treatment with thyroid extract would be advisable in such a case, but it should, of course, be taken only under the direction of a physician.

Sherman Haldeman, golf chairman reported the lodge will enter two teams in the tournament. Announcement was made of the North Central district meeting to be held at Ashland on June 27. WHICH WILL YOU BE CATCHING WHEN YOU'RE 55?

MOST FOLKS dream of being able to take things easy after 55 . . . of being able to pursue a life of leisure while they're young enough to enjoy it.

But unfortunately, many of us find ourselves at 55 still catching the bus to the job instead.

The reason: lack of enough money to retire on.

Lucky for you, however, there's a safe, sound way to protect your future financial security today—U. S. Security Bonds!

Security Bonds require only a little spare cash every week—yet return you a whopping big nest egg in ten years. For example: as little as $3.75 invested regularly every week will bring you $2,163.45 by 1958!

And there are two easy, automatic ways to get your Bonds.

1. If you work for wages or salary, you can get your Security Bonds through Payroll Savings—the only installment buying plan.

2. If you are in business, or in a profession, and the Payroll Savings Plan is not available, you can sign up for the Bond-A-Month Plan at your local bank.

Choose the sum you can afford and sign up today. Then, at 55 perhaps you can start catching fish — and forget about catching that bus every morning!

P. S. Your Security Bond dollars do more than give YOU security. They help you fight inflation. For wise saving means more sensible spending—fewer dollars to bid up prices on scarce goods. Also every dollar invested in Bonds retires an equal amount in inflationary credit.

Memorial Day Message

As we decorate the graves of men who have served in the armed forces of our country, let us not forget the many whose last resting places are in far lands.

And as we do these things, let us also pray for guidance and wisdom to avoid another war whose dark clouds already threaten. The nations of the world cannot afford to go on killing off and maiming so great a number of their finest youth. We must find some better way of settling differences that will enable us to live in peace; and to enjoy the fruits of our labor rather than devote it to machinery of destruction.

SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1948

Memorial Day, 1948

SUNDAY the nation honors its war dead, reflecting on their deeds and sacrifices On the brink of summer, we pause to think of those who were cut off in life's prime.'

This third Memorial day since the end of World War II finds the world no nearer a table peace. There is open strife in the Holy Land and China, while an uneasy peace exists between Russia and the Western allies. That is the picture as we observe the day set aside "for the purpose of strewing flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country."

Since Memorial Day was instituted, the nation has gone through three more wars. The wounds of 1861-65 are healed and the cenotaphs of the Blue and the Gray are weatherstained and vined. But there are fresh wounds, new cenotaphs. That is because the high resolves and hopes of past Memorial Days haven't been realized; because abhorrence of war in itself hasn't been enough to prevent war.

Permanent peace isn't a goal that one people or group of peoples can achieve. It is a goal attainable only by worldwide cooperation among nations. Balances of power, military alliances and ententes are only makeshift devices subject to the caprices of politicians The world is now becoming aware that mankind, to survive, must learn to settle its differences peacefully.

The whole world might well pray with America that heroes of peace will arise and that their efforts will insure mankind against another long roster of war dead and new cenotaphs to bedeck with flowers on a late spring Sunday.

No One Can Do It

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR has earned the right to come and go in the country, he has served faithfully. But the right has been suspended temporarily by politics. Gen. MacArthur himself has made the decision to stay in Japan until the Republican national convention is over.

As Gen. Eisenhower knows, even a glamorous military figure who wants to stay out of politics has a hard time doing it—and Gen. MacArthur has let it be known he'd like to be thought of as a potential candidate for the Republican party's presidential nomination. Gen. MacArthur, having been away for 15 years, can postpone his return a few more weeks.

Gen. MacArthur is in politics. He is there by his own decision. No one knows better than he does that his new role comes before his former role as a military hero. Were he to come home now it would be interpreted as a bid for acclaim on the eve of the convention. On the other hand, to stay away also is bound to be interpreted as a bid for acclaim on the eve of the convention.

No one can be in and out of politics at the same time any more than it's possible to be in and out of love.

A Dutch Uncle Resigns

IT IS easy to understand Britain's consternation at the defeat of South Africa's Prime Minister Smuts. He was one of the empire's elder statesmen.

A commando leader against the British in the Boer war, Smuts nevertheless had strong British ties, for he is Cambridge-educated. After the Boer war, he was a leader in promoting loyalty to the new order and in encouraging racial conciliation. He was a founder of the Het Volk political organization open to both whites and blacks.

Apparently Smuts' defeat at the hands of a nationalist element is evidence of dissatisfaction with South Africa's role within the British commonwealth. Also, Smuts' racial record was held against him by South Africa's whites in an era when submerged people's everywhere are stirring with new-found power. In South Africa, the racial situation is far more explosive than in our own South. South Africa's disfranchised constitute a substantial majority, with no inclination on the part of the minority to grant any rights whatever.

At 78, Smuts has been a leader in South African and empire life for half a century He has been a doughty warrior and in Downing Street councils has played the role of Dutch uncle to perfection.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Let It Not Be Said That America Forgets.

MEMORIAL day is not a one-day holiday for Americans. We never forget our veterans—the veterans of any of our wars. Memorial day was instituted by General John A. Logan in 1868 for the purpose of decorating the graves of Civil war veterans. It is often called Decoration day. In recent years, it has come to be celebrated quite apart from the Civil War; for to this generation, World War I and World War II are closer in our sorrow.

SOKOLSKY

Although we love those who gave their lives for our country and for us, we do not like war We are not a militaristic people. The nomadic races needed war to help them push into new lands; we are a sedentary folk; farmers, industrial workers, professionals, service workers, artists. Such a people survive in peace; war places upon them heavy burdens which often leave them weakened and confused.

We have always felt that way about war and that is why George Washington not only warned his countrymen against the dangers of entangling alliances which lead to war but he also became the first president of the Society of the Cincinnati who literally cast aside their swords and turned to the ploughshares. The glory of war is the mood of dynasts; those who thrive on the arts of peace find more glory in a Thomas Edison or a George Westinghouse than in a Gustavus Adolphus or or even in a Julius Caesar or a Napoleon.

Heavy Toll of War

The present generation of Americans has lived through two wars in a quarter of a century. Both have been devastating not only in lives and wealth but in human values. Even our traditional concept of what we so glibly call "the American way of life" has been radically altered. We no longer think of ourselves as independent individuals; instead we place an emphasis on government, its authority and its services, which are becoming more akin to the European countries whence every American's ancestors fled here to find liberty.

Slowly we are developing a huge veteran class, subsidized out of taxes, receiving enormous benefits (slight perhaps for the individual; an unbearable burden in the aggregate). No one can gainsay a moral or even a financial recognition of the men and women who risked their lives that their country might not be conquered. And no one does. Yet, they, the veterans, will one day become conscious of the fact that a national budget which runs between $30,000,000,000 and $50,000,000,000 annually — and the latter figure may come sooner than we expect—deprives them of opportunities in life and of individual liberties which make the small veteran benefits they, as individuals, do receive not worthwhile.

Problem of the Future

Their generation and their children's will have to deal with that problem. No one today, seems to be willing even to discuss it. A slightly thrifty and economical house of representatives has been negatived by a vote-conscious senate which adds appropriation upon appropriation without counting costs today or in the future.

But Memorial day is really not for such a discussion as this. Let us rather think of that shortsightedness of a nation which would reduce in rank Admiral Raymond Spruance, Admiral H. Kent Hewitt, Admiral Thomas Kinkaid, General Omar Bradley, General Mark Clark, General Jacob Devers, General Thomas Handy, General Courtney Hodges, General Joseph McCarney, General George Kenney, and General Carl Spaatz. Generals Bradley, Devers, McCarney, Kenney and Spaatz hold positions which carry with them the rank of full general, but once removed from these duties they too will lose a star because the armed services must reduce by July 1 a specified number of four-star generals and equivalent admirals.

It seems to me all wrong that those who received their four stars in fighting a war should be deprived of rank and pay by a government which is profligate in its expenditures on the trivial, and parsimonious on the essential.

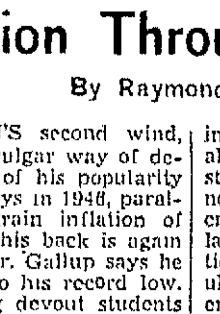
I speak in particular of General Mark Clark, whose heroism in the war deserves better consideration from his fellow countrymen. And this is a good day to remember his record on the field of battle.

Let it not be said that America forgets.

Salvation Through Inflation

By Raymond Moley

MR. TRUMAN'S second wind, which is a vulgar way of describing the lift of his popularity after his dark days in 1946, paralleled, the big grain inflation of late 1947. Now his back is again becalmed, and Dr. Gallup says he is almost back to his record low. Politicians, being devout students of history and being super-sensitive to real or apparent aids to popularity, may feel that Truman's limp spinnaker may again be opened by a late summer breeze of inflation.



MOLEY

The President and his official associates have several means of producing another lift. And those who watch business and political trends may well take note of officially promoted rises in the months ahead.

Grain prices, due to good crop prospects here and abroad, are easing downward. The government has already bought all it needs for export until June 30th, but it is aggressively buying for export in July. If it wished to save money and lose Truman, it might wait a while, because more and more of the old wheat crop is now coming from the southwest. But in view of threats to give the President the sack and draft Eisenhower, something must be done now

It would seem, since European crops are so promising, that it might be well to revise some of the quotas But it can be taken for granted that the government will buy and buy to keep prices high from July to November. Germany and Japan can always use more, of course.

Natural Law at Work

An inflationary-minded government can always encourage wage increases, but the natural law is already operating against that stimulant. It is a solemn economic truth that every wage increase is inflationary except the last one. The last one is deflationary because buyers' resistance ultimately prevails. Labor leaders know that and they are now warily anticipating the end of their wage victories. They were deceived by the Truman administration's dire prediction of a meat shortage, and they launched the packers' strike. That ran into bad economic weather and failed. The Buick strike vote went against the union leaders, and now a GM settlement seems assured.

There is trouble in textiles, where prices are going down and sales volume is smaller than was anticipated.

Pipe lines are filling up in many other consumers' lines, and thus the arguments for pay rises are getting weaker day by day.

Some Soft Spots

There are vulnerable places, however, where the public is powerless to resist higher prices. There, the government has more authority. The railroads through their fact-finding board will probably agree on wage increases far greater than those granted by the meat packers. The same rule may well apply to other carriers such as subways and bus lines. Higher fares and freight rates follow, of course, and the public must pay.

In such soft spots where public utilities are involved and government is paramount, there is hope for those who wish inflation. But the hope that the President may be reelected on such a basis is not bright.

The Age of Miracles . . . 68?

Triplets were born this week to a 68-year-old New Yorker.

The stork, like inflation, shows up in some unexpected places.

Triplets at 68. . . . He must be nature's answer to Doctor Brinkley.

The gentleman in question already had 32 children. This bears out the old proverb, "Them as has, gits."

Thirty-five children. . . . It would take a certified public accountant to take inventory of the rings around their bathtub of a Saturday night.

If they're all as prolific as their pa, the next generation will have to hold its family reunion in Madison Square Garden.

Incidentally, the proud father works regularly. Isn't it refreshing, at a time more and more men are retiring at 55, to find a citizen who, at 68, is productive as well as reproductive?

Hospital at Home

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Hope for the hopeless and a measure of happiness for the final months of life has been provided by a new hospital home care program for cancer patients. Success of the program, which has been tried out in New York by Montefiore hospital for a year, is described by Dr. Martin Cherkasky, supervisor, who predicts it will provide a model for other communities all over the country.

After patients have derived all possible benefit from hospital care, says Dr. Cherkasky, it has been found that home environment often gives new hope and comfort to both patient and family. He explains:

"The service provides all the services of the hospital, in the home. This includes medical and nursing care, services of specialists, housekeeping service, medication, hospital equipment and physical therapy. Often it is more important to keep the spirit alive than it is to provide routine treatment in the hospital. Our experiment has proved the truth of the song—'Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.'"

Boys, Dogs, Windows

By Frank Tripp

WE were having a little trouble with Turk riding his velocipede on the street. Though where he lives traffic is light and cautious, his practice posed a considerable problem.

When he got old enough to ride four blocks down to our house he had to cross a busy street. It was hard to impress the danger upon him and he worried us much.

TRIPP

Then, during the Winter, he lost his dog, Flaps. Advertising brought no word until men who were clearing snow uncovered the body of a beautiful black and white spaniel. It was Flaps. He had been killed by a car, and covered by falling snow.

It was near where Turk crossed the busy street. A new approach occurred to us We explained that Flaps, with all his speed and cunning, couldn't get across the street—and was killed.

Turk's respect for Flaps' agility did the trick. Since then he hasn't ridden on that street. Every time he approaches it he says, "that's where Flaps got killed."

This same Turk, who is my grandson, lately entered upon a considerable adventure for a four-year-old.

He came upon a croquet mallet and pondered just what exciting thing might be done with such a tool. He pounded with it on the ground Not very satisfactory; no noise. The walk was better but that was only a hollow sound.

At that moment a neighbor's garage caught his eye: a garage with windows all around it, and small panes of glass One wallop on a lower pane brought the desired result As the rascal walked around the building, every pane fell with a crash, as high as his mallet would reach.

Finally the fun was over—all the glass was gone. Ah, but there was another garage next door. To that he went; though with less destructive result, for after the fourth pane was shattered the owner showed up.

It was too bad, Turk must have thought, with his work only half done. Still he had a pretty good day. He cleaned out 36 panes, slick to the sash; would have done much better with a longer mallet. Happily his father is in the hardware business.

Probably no man lives who cannot tell a story from his boyhood about dogs and windows. Boys, dogs and windows seem to be inseparable. There's something about the combination that both tempts and tempers a youngster's imagination. Windows tempt; dogs temper.

I knew a fellow once who owned a shed at the rear of a city lot. There was a window facing an alley. He bought a case of small panes of glass that fitted the sash Glass was cheap then and he could put in panes himself.

Every now and then he'd find the glass stoned out of the back window. We would replace the glass, then round up the kids of the neighborhood. He never made 'em pay, nor did they ever deny their guilt. They mowed his grass, raked his yard and shovelled his walks. That was the penance —and proof that "crime doesn't pay."

One time, when I was a kid, Joe-Joe McLaughlin and I went in the old rag, bottle and bone business. The man who bought these was two miles away. One wheelbarrow filled brought us 15 cents for a whole day's work and a four-mile walk to deliver. See how much you can get two kids to do today for 15 cents.

Bones brought the most money. Up the street a man owned a big dog, so vicious he couldn't associate with our mongrels He was tied to a wire that just let him cross the yard and back.

One end of the wire was at his doghouse. About it always was a precious pile of bones which he guarded with his life These bones meant dough to Joe-Joe and me, pennies anyway.

By golly we got 'em. We took our wheelbarrow up the allay, back of the doghouse. Joe-Joe got ready to climb the fence. I sneaked around front and teased the dog. He forsook his bones and ran after me as far as the wire would let him go. Joe-Joe threw the bones over the fence and we got away with our plunder before the dog's master appeared. As I recall it the risky enterprise netted us about six cents.

Every time I give a dog a bone, I console myself that it's a conscience payment for robbing a dog almost 60 years ago

Honey for Ulcers

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Honey is being used successfully in the Soviet Union to treat stomach ulcers, says the newspaper "Evening Moscow." About 250 patients suffering from ulcers have been treated in the "Ostoumov, Basman and Moscow garrison hospitals, the paper says.

About 250 grams of honey were given the patient for periods of 14 to 18 days. In many cases pains disappeared after the first day. About 80 per cent of those treated had their ulcers healed by the honey treatment. The article says honey was used during the war in treating wounds and that considerable research and experiment has been since conducted along these lines

Dear Nephew: This is the time of year whe I feel like putting in a few rooty-de-toots f my friends the farmers. There are no startin and quitting whistles on the big red barns, time clocks inside the door, no featherbeddi and no fudging on the job. Overtime doesn begin after 40 hours, or even after 100 hour which is more like it.

But what makes me feel friendliest towa farmers is my habit of eating. I could get alo without an automobile, a refrigerator, a radi or just about any gadget you could name, b I wouldn't last long without something to ea Furthermore, the people who have arrange things to suit their own convenience wouldn last long either, not that they aren't importa in what they're doing, but only that the farm ers are more important than anyone else I ca think of.

They are the indispensable people in th whole setup. I hate to think what would happe to all the rest of us if they ever took it in their heads to imitate what the rest of us d They'd be leaving the cows half milked, th potatoes half planted and walking off the jo because the price of wheat didn't suit the Or they'd be lobbying for a law to do som thing about their working conditions when was too hot or too cold or too rainy to suit the

At this point maybe I should put in a wo about farmers' wives, who manage somehow get through a 14-hour day without reclining easy chairs and are not inclined to squeal abo being abused if circumstances call for them pitch in and do a man's work when time is ru ning out. Nor should I overlook the farme kid, who seems able to carry a proportiona share of the farm family's burden without go to pieces under the strain. I mention the things only as a reminder that if everybody this country who talks about production cou point with as much pride as the farmers a l of our problems would disappear.

I see by the papers that some people rese the fact that farmers are making enough mon to pay off their mortgages, finance improv ments on their farms and buy a smattering the gadgetry that makes wages for people w complain about the high price of food. The is nothing I can do about this, except sugg that some of the patriots who think food shou be cheap while everything else is sky-high cou arrange to swap jobs with almost any of t horny-handed sons of toil who put in the cro pray for good weather and sweat out the toug est work being done anywhere in the Uni States. If the cost of food ever got geared to number of hours it takes to raise it, t gadget-makers who think a couple of bucks hour is none too much for their Hercule efforts would have to go on a steady diet corn flakes and blue milk.

So with your permission, rooty-de-toot the farmers. No one else ever bothers to s much about them, apparently because they the only producers who just keep on produci year in and year out, good things and bad, ra or shine. The only negotiating they have t for is with Nature—and it keeps them bu Give my regards to the family and the back my hand to anyone who feels like denying all of us owe a deep debt of gratitude to t folks who pamper our habit of eating.

Memorial Day

A Sermonette

Pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church

". . . this also that she hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her."—Mark 14:9.

HAVE you heard the story of the origin of Memorial Day? The first celebration took place in Columbus, Miss., April 25, 1866. In a history of Columbus, Miss., is this statement: "In the spring of 1866 three ladies of Columbus were in the habit of visiting Friendship cemetery and clearing off as best they could the weeds and briars, and decorating the graves of the Confederate dead. This beautiful custom begun by them found a hearty response in the hearts of the ladies of Columbus, and resulted in a determination to make the decoration of the soldiers' graves an annual occurrence."

A description of the first celebration continued: "The procession yesterday in honor of the Confederate dead was large and imposing. First marched in twos the young girls and ladies dressed in immaculate white, each wearing a bouquet of flowers. Next came the matrons dressed in mourning, and bearing flowers in their hands. Lastly came the carriages bearing elderly ladies. Arriving at the cemetery the ladies assembled around the graves of the soldiers in the form of a square. An elaborate address was delivered, followed by an eloquent prayer. The ladies then performed the beautiful and touching duty of decorating the graves with flowers. . . . We were glad to see that no distinction was made between our own dead and about forty Federal dead who sleep their last sleep beside them. It proved the exalted, unselfish tone of the female character, Confederate or Federal, once enemies, now receiving this tribute of respect."

A few days after the account of this incident was published, the New York Tribune printed these words: "The women of Columbus, Miss., have shown themselves impartial in their offering made to the memory of the soldier dead. They have strewn with flowers alike the graves of the Confederate and of the National soldiers in the Columbus cemetery." After reading it Francis M. Finch was inspired to write:

"No more shall the war-cry sever
  Or the winding rivers be red,
They banish our anger forever,
  When they laurel the graves of the dead.

Under the sod and the dew,
  Waiting the judgment day,
Love and tears for the blue;
  Tears and love for the gray."

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

Convenience Cabinet for Bedroom

A cabinet at the head of your bed can be a great convenience when it is properly designed. The small unit shown here is very easy to make and has been designed to furnish almost every comfort desired. It holds a reading light, a radio, books and the telephone. All within easy reach of the occupant of the bed.

The cabinet is made by cutting two side pieces of eight-inch shelving, each 38 inches high, and cutting another piece 40 inches long to make the top. A shelf is set in about 10 inches below the top. A sheet of plywood is then cut to cover the front of the cabinet, and is cut out so as to leave an opening for the radio and for the books as shown by the illustration. Narrow strips of molding are tacked to the front below the book-holes as a decorative feature, but are not essential as a convenience. A small light is set inside the radio opening or a lamp is set on the top of the cabinet with the telephone.

The cabinet can be painted to match the walls or the furniture or may be in a becoming contrasting color.

The arrangement shown here is for a single bed, but by changing the length measurement it may be built to accommodate twin beds or a double bed. The sections below the book-holes may be cut out and fitted to accommodate a water-bottle and glass or any other articles the owner wishes to have at hand.

Less than $5 should cover the cost of the material required to make the cabinet, and any man capable of sawing wood in a straight line and driving a few nails, should be able to assemble the unit in about two-hours time. The convenience offered will make the effort worth while.

TERMITES

Are too destructive to tolerate. Also termites are hard to control. Chemicals (regardless of how good they are), have little or no value unless applied by experienced, well trained men. It is literally impossible for a property owner to get results, because of lack of proper knowledge.
Then, too, many chemicals are of low flash point, making a fire hazard or toxic to people and may injure your health.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

Q. I have just acquired a ginkgo tree. Would you kindly enlighten me as to its nature, its growth, and whether it is a good tree? How can I best promote its growth?

A. The ginkgo tree is one of the most satisfactory shade trees, although it is not as fast growing as some of the others. I would fertilize it according to the instructions in our shade tree bulletin which you may obtain from your county agricultural agent. So far as I know it is completely free of any kind of pests. Incidently, it is one of the oldest plants that we have in existence today. At one time it and its relatives made up a considerable part of the plant growth on the earth's surface, a good many million years ago. It is the sole survivor of that group of plants, having come down through the ages.

The only objectionable part of a ginkgo tree is the fact that if you have a seedling it may be a fruiting form. The seeds of the fruit will be exactly like fresh dates. However, they smell more like carrion. Nurseries usually sell grafted male plants so that buyers need not have that worry.

This house covers only 681 square feet and has no basement, a combination that makes it about as cheap to build as any house can be. It was planned by the Small Home Plan Service, Shaw & Renneker, architects, Box 2821 Woodlawn Station, Birmingham 6, Ala. Identfied as plan 314-A, this layout provides for a future bedroom and extra closets by extension of the hall through present closets. A porch can be added with a glass door installed from the living room in place of the book shelves. Heat is by a floor furnace.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

New Enamel Over Old

Q: What is the best way to prepare our white enameled woodwork for re-enameling?

A: Wash with a solution of trisodium phosphate, using about a cupful of the "triso" to each gallon of water. Be sure to rinse off all traces of this solution thoroughly, for otherwise your new finish will fail. When dry, and before repainting, fill all chipped-out places in the wood by building up with several thin coats of enamel undercoater, or, if badly chipped, with wood putty. If you are going to put on the same color again, one coat of enamel may suffice. If the color is to be changed, you will need two coats of enamel undercoater before the final coat of enamel.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE class in beer drawing will please come to attention.

You think I'm kidding? Are there really classroom courses on how to draw a glass of beer?

Sure. I just—bu-u-r-r-r-rup—flunked the first lesson.

I took it in a demonstration room at the Jacob Ruppert brewery, the one that used to own the New York Yankees and kept them—so to say—hopping.

Hal Boyle

The professor was 55-year-old Hal R. Hoffmann, the dean and effervescent Rembrandt of American beer drawers. The class consisted of students in a local bartenders' school. A number were veterans studying under the GI bill of rights.

The professor, a consultant to many breweries and hotels, went right to the heart of his subject—how to teach the man behind the bar to draw a proper glass of beer. Draft beer. Bottled beer, he feels, is better for pigeons.

"There's a lot of kidding on this subject—but it's important," he said, adding ominously:

"There even have been cases of murder over whether beer was being drawn right. I got the clippings right here in my pocket.

"You gotta be a diplomat. Some customers act up after just smelling the bar rag."

TO DRAW A GLASS of beer that'll melt in your mouth is as much of an art as drawing a landscape, and even more soul-filling—according to the professor. He told the class that beer is getting better but that tavern keepers are getting worse.

"Too careless," he said. "In the old days bartenders paid more attention to how beer was kept."

For an hour and a half Hoffmann explained how important it was to keep the keg in a pre-cooler, flush the coils regularly, and adjust the pressure so the customer would get the beer in his glass instead of a spray in the face.

Then the professor began to draw some beer himself. The class perked up at once.

"There is no such thing as wild beer, flat beer, or green beer," he lectured sternly, "if you keep it cool—below 40 degrees—and draw it right."

"It oughta have a collar," he continued, drawing a glass himself with an inch-deep necklace of suds. "It oughta leave a ring on the glass every time you take a sip."

THE PROFESSOR takes his sips himself. He left only six rings. The class looked thirsty.

"But you gotta have control. It's like shifting gears in a car. Pull the faucet down fast. If you throttle it, you get too much foam.

"Always wash the glasses in water. Don't use soap. It kills the head. And don't dry the glasses with a cloth. Use 'em wet. If you use a dry glass, the customer will see bubbles settling on the sides. If he drinks it and it's a hot day—well, what happens maybe.

Everybody flunked that one.

"He burps maybe," said Hoffmann patiently. "Right away he starts blaming the beer. Says it's got too much gas—says he saw the bubbles himself."

THE PROFESSOR then invited the taproom scholars up to draw a sample. Everybody quickly sidled up to a seidel. Each rinsed his seidel in a pail of water before drawing his beer. I forgot this part of the ceremony.

"Nice collar," said the professor genially, "but look at the bubbles. You used a dry glass."

I nosed into the glass. It was a warm day. Something happened.

"KING OF KINGS" WILL BE SHOWN AT LARUE SCHOOL

The motion picture, "King of Kings," will be shown at the LaRue school auditorium Tuesday night, sponsored by the LaRue Youth for Christ, as a "program for the whole family." Times of showing of the featured attraction will be at 7 o'clock and 9, and at 6:50 and 8:50, there will be a special picture for children, "The Little Toy Soldier," which is the story of "the travels and adventures of a toy soldier in his quest for a Christian home. There will be no admission charge, but free-will offerings will be received, it was announced. A Cecil B. DeMille production, "The King of Kings," filmed a number of years ago, has become known as "a sort of classic American passion play." It is a depiction of the latter years of Christ's life, and emphasizes to a certain degree His accomplishment of miracles, and deals to a great extent with His betrayal, trial and crucifixion.

MARION GROUP AIDS TEACHERS ABROAD

Contributions Made to Schools in War-Torn Countries.

The Marion Education association, at the request of the National Education association and the Ohio Education Association, has collected from the faculty members of the Marion city schools approximately 500 periodical and books in the professional education field. These publications were shipped to the American Book Center, care of the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. They will be reshipped to the teachers in the war-devastated countries abroad.

Last December the faculty members of the Marion city schools contributed $178, through the Marion Education association, to the Overseas Teacher Relief Fund. The figures of the National Education Association summary show Ohio contributions of nearly $20,000, which is $7,000 above those of any other state in our country.

The Marion Education association has also collected, through the efforts of the teachers and students in the Marion public schools, a contribution of $134.40 for the relief of children overseas. This contribution will be forwarded to American Overseas Aid, United Nations Appeal for Children, New York City.

OH, WHAT A BEAUTIFUL HOME!

An expanse of green, velvety grass more than any other feature, adds to the beauty of a home.

But don't think a rich lawn is reserved only for those few possessed of a magical "green thumb." The three chief requirements for a carpet of green to stretch before your house are: well-nourished soil, good grass seed, and plenty of water—from your garden hose if nature won't supply it.

Cubs Open Series with Lima Tonight After Losing to Muncie, 9 to 6

Terriers Will Be Here for Two Games Sunday, One on Monday

By BILL DIEM

Clubbed back under the .500 mark by the Muncie Reds 9 to 6, last night, the Marion Cubs will attempt to launch a winning streak tonight when the Lima Terriers come to town for a four-game home series.

Lima and Marion haven't yet met since the Ohio-Indiana league season opened, though they played a pre-season exhibition game, but they'll be seeing plenty of each other over the weekend.

After the affair tonight—they'll meet twice tomorrow—at 2 p. m. and at 7:45—and twice Decoration Day—at Lincoln park at 2 p. m. and at Lima's Halloran park Monday night.

The Cubs learned to respect the big sticks of the Muncie men last night as the Reds slugged their way from behind to even up the two-game series here, rapping 15 hits off starter Nick Alivojvodic and reliefer Ray Peet, who came in in the ninth.

Hit 2 Homers

Two of those hits were home runs. Carl Bush blasted one over the right field wall with none on in the fifth, and in the ninth, Bob Nieman poled his sixth of the season over the left field fence with one mate aboard.

But it was pinch hitter Wilbur McConnell's triple in the eighth that won the game for Muncie.

With the Reds behind 6 to 5 and John Moore and Hal Tremen on base by virtue of a single and double, McConnell connected on Alivojvodic's first pitch, sending it out to deep right field for a triple.

The victory pulled Muncie back up into a virtual first-place tie with the Springfield Giants, whose game at Zanesville was rained out. It left Marion in fifth place, four and one-half games behind the leaders.

The Cubs showed a little power in their own right, touching Ray Trava for 11 hits, including doubles by Tony Mislovich and Lou Castrovince and triples by Bob Shuford and Manager Zeke Bekeza, who has built his batting average up from .105 to .233 since returning to the lineup this week after a three-week lay off

Show Brilliant Fielding

And on several occasions the Bruins displayed some brilliant fielding plays that kept the damage from being worse.

The Cubs made three double plays, the most remarkable one coming in the seventh.

Wayne Carlson had opened that inning with a single and was forced at second by Billy Ford. Walt Polinski topped the ball to third, but beat out the throw to first for another single, and Carl Bush laced an Alivojvodic pitch to right field, scoring Ford and moving Polinski to third, himself to first.

Then Bob Nieman sent a screaming drive a little left of second base that looked like a sure single, but Pete Schnepf ran over and jumped high in the air, stabbing the ball and robbing the Ohio-Indiana league leading hitter of a safety.

Schnep threw to Bekeza on first, apparently doubling Bush at first, and Bekeza in turn, fired the ball to Tom Gatts at the plate, who tagged Polinski coming home. It was fortunate that he did, for the umpire ruled that Bush had scurried back to first in time.

Gatts put out three Reds at the plate, and launched a double play in the fourth inning when he caught Trava's foul and threw to first doubling Hal Tremen, who had streaked to second on the hit and run play.

Rattled in Ninth

The Cubs made two errors in the ninth inning, apparently rattled after Muncie took the lead in the eighth, but on the whole showed considerable improvement in fielding.

The game was marked by several word exchanges with the umpires. Mike Blazo, the class D circuit's senior manager and probably its most colorful one, left his coaching box on several occasions to boom out reprimands at Umpire Davis behind the plate and Manager Bekeza joined in in the eighth when a ball hit by pinch hitter Bill Bolduc was declared foul after Carl Bush had misjudged it and Bolduc arrived safely on first. Bolduc ended up his turn at bat by grounding out

BLACK, CHRISTOPHER CHECK WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, May 29 — A pair of Philadelphia pitching cast-offs — Don Black and Russ Christopher — today kept the Cleveland Indians on the heels of the amazing first-place Athletics.

Black, who joined the Alcoholics Anonymous and capped a brilliant comeback last year with a no-hitter against the A's, was credited with his second straight victory last night in a 2-0 shutout of the Chicago White Sox before 18,082 fans.

Don twice throttled the Chi-sox with the bases loaded and had a three-hit whitewash going until the seventh frame. When Chicago's leadoff batter walked and Taft Wright singled, Manager Lou Boudreau called Christopher from the bullpen.

Christopher walked Ralph Weigel to load the sacks but then held Chicago batters in check the rest of the way.

The Indians tallied one run in the sixth when Jim Hegan reached second on Tony Lupien's error and scored on Larry Doby's booming triple. Boudreau doubled in the ninth and crossed the plate on Eddie Robinson's single for the final Tribe marker.

VEECK TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 29—Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, is scheduled to leave Cleveland Clinic today, nearly four weeks after a third amputation on his right leg, the hospital said yesterday. Veeck's leg was injured in an accident while he was with the Marines in the South Pacific.

B-W Appears To Have Fifth Conference Title Sewed Up

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O, May 29—Baldwin-Wallace, king of Ohio conference track and field for the last four years, appeared today to have its fifth straight conference title sewed up.

The flashing legs of Harrison Dillard seemed to have turned the trick, for he cracked two and tied one conference mark yesterday in five preliminary events.

In addition to Dillard, seven other Yellow Jackets qualified for the finals, four more than the second place team, Akron university.

Dillard turned in the new records in his specialties, the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard low hurdles. In each case he broke his own conference record.

In the high hurdles, Dillard set a new mark of 14 seconds flat, shaving three-tenths of a second off the mark he set in 1947 and two-tenths of a second off the Selby Field mark set by him in 1946.

In the lows, Dillard twinkled down the distance in 22.6 seconds, two-tenths of a second faster than the conference record he set in 1946 and a tenth of a second off his accepted world record.

After all this timber-topping, the Negro ace turned his speed to the 100-yard dash, where he tied the conference record of 9.7 seconds he set in 1946.

With all this power devoted to Baldwin-Wallace, the meet's most furious contest seemed likely to be for second place, with the principal debate coming between Denison university and Ohio Wesleyan.

NIEMAN, RAUCHER LEAD O-I BATTING

Outfielder Bob Nieman of Muncie and Carl Raucher of Lima are tied for batting honors in the Ohio-Indiana league each with an average of .382 according to Howe News Bureau.

Nieman leads the total base department with 54 and has hit four home runs to head the circuit.

One-point away from the deadlocked pair is outfielder Bob Fruciano of Richmond with .381. He also leads in stolen bases, 13, and tied Carl Hosler of Springfield in scoring the most runs, 25

Carl Bush of Muncie heads the run-batted-in department with 26, one more than his teammate, Nieman, who has 25.

Leading pitcher is Ken Lanning of Muncie with four straight victories.

Muncie leads in team batting averages with a .279 average, followed by Zanesville with a .275 and Marion with .269.

Portsmouth leads in team fielding with a .938 mark and Muncie is second with .936.

Marion is seventh in fielding with a .924 record

The figures include games of May 24.

Oskey-Leftwich Bout Highlights Wednesday's Card

Middleweights Will Fight Five Rounds, Nine Other Bouts Scheduled.

By BILL MURPHY

Highlighting next Wednesday's boxing program at the Armory will be a five-rounder featuring Ermal Oskey of Circleville in a middleweight scrap with Charlie Leftwich of Columbus.

Nine three round scraps will complete the card, and a "battle royal" is a possible added attraction.

Oskey, big, blond and clean cut has quite a list of ring accomplishments to his credit. Among them is a record of 59 knockouts out of 60 fights won. In 1947 he won the AAU welterweight championship of Ohio, and while serving in the Marine Corps he was Marine Fleet champion of the welter division.

Wednesday's fight will mark his last showing as an amateur before turning pro. He will make his professional debut on the Arturo Godoy-Pat Richards card at Haft's Acre arena in Columbus June 14

Needs Little Introduction

As for Leftwich, he needs little introduction to Marion boxing fans. In two trips here, he registered two knockouts. Ernie Arcuri of Marion and Bob Raglands of Springfield were his victims. He too is scheduled to give up his amateur status soon.

Oskey also will be showing at the Armory for the second time. He arrived here several weeks ago without fanfare, dumped Pete Smith of Columbus without effort and disappeared without notice.

Aside from the main feature which will be run last, Jack Seckinger will be out to extend his streak to two in a row when he rings with George Burton of Columbus in a welter go. Seckinger is an oddity among amateur boxers in the respect that he is a hard trainer. He takes advantage of his condition, too. While in the ring he never allows his opponent to rest, always forcing the fight and always getting the first punch after a break by the referee

Neidig Will Meet Wharton

Joe Neidig a scrapper, will meet Virgil Wharton for the second time in a lightweight match. Neidig won in a rough bout in the first encounter. Another middleweight bout will feature Bill (Torpedo) Tuttle vs. Pete Smith in what appears to be the doom of Smith. Lawrence Strahm is scheduled to fight a Columbus boxer yet to be chosen, and Orlando Carbetta of Mansfield will meet Homer Humphries, another Columbus lightweight.

Verlin White will bout with a Columbus fighter in the only heavyweight bout carded for the night. Howard Carney and Gene Ayres of Mansfield will fight Johnny Chamber and Dick James of Marion respectively in return matches, and Harold Watts will meet a welterweight from LaRue.

Four members of the Marion Trainers Association have tentative plans for attending the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott heavyweight championship fight at Madison Square Garden June 23. They will endeavor to line-up an all-pro card to be fought outdoors here later in the summer while there.

REDS LOSE DESPITE FOUR HOME RUNS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 29 — Cincinnati's hapless Reds hit home runs like champions but keep losing like the last-placers they are.

Despite four homers, good for eight runs, the Redlegs bowed to the Chicago Cubs, 10-8, last night in the opener of a four-game series before a crowd of 18,972.

Third sacker Grady Hatton got the circuit-blow string started with a three-run smash into the right field bleachers in the first inning and the next batter Hank Sauer, promptly bounced one off the left-center field wall for his 11th of the season.

After two batters singled in the next round, Sauer connected for No. 12, but a 7-0 lead wasn't enough for starter Howard Fox. He blew up in the third and five Chicago runs crossed the plate.

Johnny Wyrostek, who had four hits in five trips, extended the Cincinnati lead with a round-tripper in the fourth. But five hits and an error by Wyrostek in the sixth added up to four runs and the ball game for the Chicago team.

After Wyrostek's homer, rookies Bob Rush and Al Dobernic limited the Reds to three hits during the final five frames. Dobernic was the winner. Harry Gumbert who took over in the sixth, was charged with the loss, his second as against five victories

LIMA REACHES BRAVE HURLER FOR 20 RUNS

By The Associated Press

Pitcher Bill Foster of Richmond could write a book today on his adventures under fire in the Ohio-Indiana baseball league.

That is, if he isn't too shell-shocked to remember.

Young Foster started for Richmond's Braves against Lima's terrible Terriers last night and he didn't get any relief until the Terriers had clubbed out 15 hits and 20 runs—13 of them earned. That made the final score, 20-6, Lima

In other league contests, Muncie's Reds topped Marion, 9-6, and moved within 24 percentage points of league-leading Springfield; Portsmouth clipped Newark, 8-7, and Springfield at Zanesville was rained out.

The boisterous belaboring Lima administered to Foster, however wasn't the only oddity in the game at Lima. When Foster finally got relief, his successor was his catcher, Paul Mullins, who gave up one blow in the two frames he worked on the mound

And, although Lima counted 20 runs, the game's three home runs were smitten by Richmond hitters—with the bases as barren as a Chinese cupboard

The league was just full of those zany touches last night. Over at Newark, Portsmouth and the Yankees were deadlocked at 7-all in the Portsmouth half of the ninth. With two away, Manager George Staller of Portsmouth stole home with the winning run

The line scores:

Richmond	011 102 010— 6	7	7
Lima	020 822 60x—20	16	2

Foster, Mullins (8) and Mullins, Roberts (8). Flory and Graham.

2 BIG NINE FIELD RECORDS BROKEN

By The Associated Press

MADISON, Wis., May 29—Two new records—the shot put and the discus — were in the Western Conference record books today as the finals of the 48th outdoor track meet opened at Camp Randall.

Michigan's Charley Fonville and Minnesota's Fortune Gordien shattered the Big Nine marks in yesterday's preliminaries dominated by Ohio State in the chase for team laurels

Fonville, who has a world record of 58 feet ⅜ inch up for approval, pegged the 16-pound shot 54 feet 10 inches, bettering his one year-old mark by nine inches. Gordien flipped the discus 174 feet 4 inches to erase the conference record of 174 feet 1 inch set in 1941 by Archie Harris of Indiana.

The title-favored Buckeyes lived up to their advance billing, too, with 16 qualifiers in the nine preliminaries. Defending champion Illinois and Michigan were next with nine and eight respectively.

Lloyd Duff, most versatile of OSU's performers, qualified in three events — both hurdles and the broad jump—and is figured for sure points in the pole vault which opens today's program of finals in all 14 events.

TO BUILD VANDALIA TRACK

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., May 29 — Harlan W. Yendes, president of the Miami Valley Racing and Sulky association, said yesterday that a $1,000,000 one-mile horse racing track would be built near Vandalia, O., this year. He said construction "probably will begin next month." The track, to be named Skylane Park, will be supervised by the American Jockey club, Yendes said

A's Win Sixth Straight When Nelson Potter Throttles Yanks

By The Associated Press

Connie Mack, whose luck seems to be all good for a change, apparently has found the relief man he wants in the veteran Nelson Potter.

A couple weeks ago the Athletics bought Potter from the St. Louis Browns in a straight cash deal. The chunky righthander, strictly a starting pitcher with the Browns ever since 1943, has been used three times by Philadelphia always in relief. He worked once in a losing cause, then saved a game

Last night in Shibe park against the New York Yankees he clinched the job. He entered the game in the fifth with two on and none out. He escaped without a run and from then on the Yanks couldn't move past first

Gave Up 2 Hits

In all, Potter gave up only two hits and received credit for the 6-3 victory. It was the sixth in a row for the A's who maintained their one-game first place margin over the Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland stayed right behind by whipping the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 0, in Chicago

The Boston Red Sox slipped to seventh place again by losing to the Senators, 2-1, in Washington.

A seventh-inning rally brought the St. Louis Browns a 5-4 victory over Detroit and moved them to within three percentage points fo the fourth place Tigers

In the National league the St Louis Cardinals increased their first place lead to three full games over the New York Giants although rain shortened their game in Pittsburgh to a 1-1 six-inning tie.

Phils Beat Giants

The Giants couldn't handle the Philadelphia Phils in the Polo Grounds and lost, 6 to 3. New York manager Mel Ott announced he was playing the game under protest after Umpire Art Gore ruled that Emil Verban held a thrown ball long enough to force a runner at second base. The ball then bounded away.

The Brooklyn Dodgers finally caught up with the Boston Braves and beat them, 7 to 5, in Boston. It was the first time the Dodgers had turned the trick in the last nine games between the two clubs

Hank Sauer hit his 11th and 12th home runs and Grady Hatton and Johnny Wyrostek chipped in with four-baggers for the Cincinnati Reds against the Chicago Cubs, but the long blows weren't enough. The Cubs came from far behind and nosed out the Reds, 10 to 8, at Cincinnati.

Charlie Stanceu staved off the Millers with a seven hitter as the flock captured the nightcap 5-1. Columbus' Barney Olsen hammered three triples in the first contest and another in the second, which accounted for three runs off Bill Ayers in the first inning.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

CLARK GABLE AND LANA TURNER are the romantic team in the new dramatic love story, "Homecoming," which will be shown Sunday through Friday at the Palace theater. Starred with these two in the film are Anne Baxter and John Hodiak.

Story of Doctors At Palace Theater

"Homecoming," the story of a successful, married young doctor whose entire outlook on his profession is changed when he falls in love with a valiant nurse, opens Sunday at the Palace theater and is billed to continue through Friday. Starred in the film are Clark Gable, Lana Turner, Anne Baxter and John Hodiak.

Based on an original story by Sidney Kingsley, "Homecoming" is concerned with two medical men, one an overly-successful midwestern surgeon, Ulysses Johnson, played by Clark Gable, who is so satisfied with the easy way of life he leads with his rich clients and his young wife, played by Anne Baxter, that he pays no attention to his doctor friend, Dr. Robert Sunday (John Hodiak) who begs Dr. Johnson to aid in ridding a slum area of malaria.

But with the outbreak of World War II, Dr. Johnson goes overseas as a major in the medical corps and meets "Snapshot" McCall, played by Lana Turner, the nurse who is to assist him in his work. Dr. Johnson has the assumption that all a man has to do is look out for himself, and "Snapshot" resents this. But through the course of the war, they fall in love. Months later, "Snapshot" dies of injuries suffered during the war, and Dr. Johnson returns to his loyal wife with a new idea of the responsibilities of his profession.

Featured in the supporting cast are Ray Collins, Gladys Cooper and Cameron Mitchell.

Wednesday, for a midnight show only, Dr. Neff and his "Madhouse of Mystery" will appear on the stage. Showing on the screen for this one time only will be "Body Snatcher" starring Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi.

"Green Grass of Wyoming," which had its world premier showing this week in Lancaster where parts of the production were filmed, opened Friday at the Ohio theater and is now playing through Thursday with continuous shows both on Decoration Day and on Monday.

Starred in the 20th Century Fox filmization are Peggy Cummins, Charles Coburn and Robert Arthur, and heading the supporting cast are Lloyd Nolan, Geraldine Wall and Burl Ives, America's best-loved ballad singer.

Photographed in technicolor, "Green Grass of Wyoming" is adapted from a best-selling adventure story of the new West by Mary O'Hara, and is the third in a series which include "My Friend Flicka" and "Thunderhead, Son of Flicka."

The story in the film centers around the wild, fierce stallion, Thunderhead, who fulfills his heritage in this suspenseful drama which is also concerned with the people who love and fear him. Thunderhead, a raider who lures impressionable mares into the hills, is the despair of the McLaughlin family, the pet hate of old Beaver Greenway, and a joy to young Ken McLaughlin and Beaver's daughter, Carey.

But, while Thunderhead is being hunted over the mountain range, the excitement turns to the forthcoming State Fair Harness Races in which Ken, played by Robert Arthur, is to make his debut, and in which Beaver (Charles Coburn) is being urged by Carey (Peggy Cummins) to recapture his former sulky racing glory.

Exciting scenes in the film include the chase after Thunderhead in the mountains, the attack of the wolf pack and the action of the sulky races.

Starting Friday to run for seven days will be "The Woman in White," a famed mystery based on a novel by Wilkie Collins. Starred are Eleanor Parker, Alexis Smith, Sydney Greenstreet and Gig Young. Sharing honors with this quartet in the film are Agnes Moorehead and John Emery.

In "The Woman in White," Eleanor Parker plays a dual role, that of Anne Catherick, the "woman in white" and also Laura Fairlie, the beautiful daughter of wealth and position. Set in the period of 1850, the story takes place in southern England and is concerned with the people who occupy a large mountain over which there seems to have been cast a black spell.

Wednesday and Thursday the double feature will be "You Only Live Once" and "History Is Made At Night." The former stars Sylvia Sidney and Henry Fonda, and heading the cast in the latter are Charles Boyer and Jean Arthur.

The former is the story of a woman who risked her life to fight by the side of the man she loved when the whole world condemned him and hunted him.

Billed to play Friday and Saturday as a double feature are "My Dog Rusty" starring Ted Donaldson, John Litel, Ann Doran and Mona Barrie, and "West of Sonora" with Charles Starrett as the Durango Kid and Smiley Burnette.

"My Dog Rusty" is about a young boy whose telling of fibs gets him into trouble when he attempts to aid his father's election campaign for town mayor and also when he balls up some tests for the town's water supply.

ATTENTION PARENTS

Parents of 5th grade and older children.

The public schools offer music lessons to any child who has an instrument.

If your child has shown interest toward wanting to be a band member, you should investigate this wonderful opportunity. Harden's Music Store is headquarters for school band instrument buyers for miles around. We have all kinds of instruments in stock to choose from. Actually over 225. We will be glad to show your child the different instruments, demonstrate them and help it decide.

If you are in doubt about your child's ability to learn a musical instrument, have no fear. Statistics prove well over 90% of all children who start in the school music bands continue. However for financial and other reasons we have a proven RENTAL plan to offer. WE WILL RENT ANY ONE OF OUR 225 INSTRUMENTS REGARDLESS OF PRICE. THE RENTAL COST IS 10% OF THE COST OF THE INSTRUMENT. EVERY CENT OF RENTAL YOU PAY IS APPLICABLE TO THE PURCHASE PRICE. What can you lose? Give your youngster a trial.

We also have dozens of used rebuilt instruments. NOTE: OUR USED INSTRUMENTS ARE REBUILT AND STERILIZED IN OUR OWN REPAIR SHOP. We do complete instrument repairing.

We are exclusive dealers for C. G. Conn, King, Holton, Buescher, Selmer, Olds, Frank Reynolds, Ludwig, Leedy, Slingerland, Deagan, etc.
